In is always difficult for foreigners to understand the accounts of the China Merchants' "Steam Navigation Company," The last report was not less ambiguous than its predecossors, but there was no mistake about the fact that the shareholders were to get a diwidend of ten percent. Sceing that business the purpose. The scheme is indeed a dearling had been extremely bad during the year, a company which could afford to pay such a dividend as this, was to be looked upon as aminently successful. Almost directly afterwards, however, we hear that the company is in financial difficulties, and this although new shares to the value of a million tacks had been issued and taken up during the year covered by the report. According to the Tientsin correspondent of the N. C. Daily News, the amount contributed by the Viceroy of Chihli to the necessities of the Company is Tis. 150,000, and the balance required has been taken up by native banks and private enpitalists. What the amount required was does not appear. J One of the Shanghai papers a few days ago gave currency to a report that His Excellency Li Hung-CHANG had advanced one million tacks to one of the managers of the Company, that Tso-Tsung-rang had responded to an application made to him for a loan to the extent of Tis. 750,000, and that the Chinese had nogotiated a loan with a local foreign hank for Tis, 300,000. This would now seem to have been in exaggerated rumour, at all events as to the amount contributed by the Vicercy of Chibli, and probably also as to its other etatements, but there is 'no room for doubt that the Company was urgently in want of funds, and to a very considerable amount. How far this unfortunate position is to be accribed to the shipping business of the Company it is impossible to ascertain, for the Company has other irons in the fire. It made a loan of Th. 210,000 to Korea last year, and the Kaiping Mining Company is in reality a branch of the China Merchants' Company. It is possible that a portion of the money now required may be wanted for some new undertaking with which foreigners are as yet unacquainted; and some of it is evidently wanted for the Kaiping business. On the whole, however, it would seem pretty clear that this semi-official Company is in the most successful which has ever been held on most curious circumstances in re-ard to the Kin. down the revolver for the deceased, and gave it. SHANGHAI.

It is worthy of note that there was not single vessel alongside the Associated Wharves as leaving China ports or Hongkon, for Shanghai. We mentioned some time ago that one of the China Merchanta' Company's steamers was to be fitted with an electric bow light. We now learn that at present there is no steamer in the com pany that has machinery suitable for driving dynamo machine, and so the project has to be given up for a time. His Ercellancy Tso Tsung-t'ang left Shanghai-early-on-the-morning of the 24th-Octobe up at Sam, making preparations to see their visitor off. As his steamer left Kin-la-yuan, the soldiers fired three volleys in his honour, and this was answered by the gruns of the fleet. The performance of Li Hung-chang's band in

It is held by others that decaptive pitching -in reality ourse pitching, but not then recognized as such -was practised by On Paris. professional players some time before any amatour addnired it. A player who retired in 1874. says that he learned the secret from a veteran saveral years earlier than that sesson. The possibility of pitching a ball in a curve, either by design or accidentally, was demonstrated not long ago, when one of the well-known pitchers won a wager, after many trials, by delivering a ball so that it passed between the first and second and third of three stakes set up in a straight

One of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools, in his report of the examinations held by him in Deabligh and Flint, touches upon the enhieut of the promotion of habits among children in elementary schools. He must candidly confess, he says, that he is a thorough nobeliever in the desirability of such habits for obildren, and he cites one awful instance of excessive development which certainly, to say the least of it, puts such habits in soything but an amiable light. A little fellow, he says, was encouraged by his parents to heard up his pennies. "He did so, and improved so much up in their advice that in imitation of the object of Alsop's saroustic scorn, be ordently wished to get at the source from which the pennics flowed," which we suppose is this learned gentleman's way of slinding to the fable of the goose and the golden ergs. "Dala," said the precedious little villain, "I wish you were dead," and before the ast nished mother could put in a word, he continued, "and you too. mamma." Why, of course, the parents wished to know, "Because," was the reply, "I could get all your money." That lat's habits of thrift, says the Inspector, have suddenly been

On the recommendation of Mr. W. H. Handerson, Superintendent of Diamond Drills, the fossils were submitted to Mr. C. A. Wilkinson, Geologie I Surveyor, who reports upon them as follows :- "The three large teeth found at a depth of 34 feet are molars from the upper jaw of a Diprotedon Australisan extinct gigantic marsupial, whose remains have been discovered not only on these low-lying plains, but also on the high lands of New kingland. These teeth are equal in size to the largest hitherto found, and the suimal to which they belonged must, according to Professor Owen's description, have stood on all fours about six feet high. The other pieces of bone which were brought up in the borings from the lower depths -76 to 84 feet -are in too fragmentary a Th. condition for identification. The o currence of p. them in such quantity, and minuled as they are with very waterworn pebbles of quartz and sand- Sat. stone, is remarkable, and affords evidence of the | s. transporting power of the water by which these drifts were deposited. I trust that Mr. Ford may be instructed to procure as many of these Tu. interesting fessils as be conveniently can. In w. nimilar pleisto one deposits on the Darling Downs Dr. Bennett has found, with the

IMPERIAL QUARTO. TANGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Dailu Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy. of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every worl is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive usture. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given. the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size PLAN OF MANILA and vacant spaces which have heretofore charas-

To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration :---Chalmers! Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Methurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult lauguage absolutely rehave one general meaning. Of these examples the work is so complete, that a reference to its SHANGHAY Mesars. Hall & Holtz. pages enables a person who understands English SHANGHAT Messrs, Kelly & Wolch; understand nothing but Chinese.
